

PRESS RELEASE

"Introducing Teddy" - Teaching 0 - 5 Yr-Olds You Can Choose Your Sex

Introducing Teddy - A Story About Being Yourself introduces the idea to babies and toddlers that you can choose your sex and indoctrinates them into believing the theory of 'gender identity.'

We are disappointed that a major publisher like Bloomsbury is promoting an ideology with no credible scientific basis to very young children, and especially one which could cause them so much confusion and potential harm. Had the author's own father taken the path she is suggesting here, she would not be here to write the book, as the 'treatment' he would have undergone as a child would have in all likelihood left him sterile.

Little children should be taught facts, not the theories of minority interest groups. This book promotes the message that the distinction between boys and girls is an idea in individual people's heads, and not a biological reality. Being a girl is a fact, not a feeling.

It is unethical to promote an unproven theory to children as truth and mislead them into believing that 'gender variant' children are transgender when in fact that's the least likely outcome: Thomas is far more likely to grow up to be gay. Children should not be taught that 'being true to yourself' means having to change sex and they should not be trained to define themselves by gender stereotypes.

ENDS

Transgender Trend is a UK based organisation of parents questioning the 'trans' diagnosis of children. It was founded in October 2015 as a research-based information source for parents and others concerned about the transgending of children.

Press contact:

Stephanie Davies-Arai

07707 026595

<http://www.transgendertrend.com/press/>